Democrat Anthony Brown's Statement on Recent Developments in MD-4 Race

LARGO, Md. -- Anthony G. Brown, a leading Democratic candidate for Maryland's 4th Congressional District, released the following statement on new developments in the race:

"I have the utmost respect for Maryland Del. Dereck Davis and former Councilmember Ingrid Turner and their continued service for our state," said Lt. Governor Anthony G. Brown. "Dereck has been a strong champion for improving economic opportunity for all Maryland families, including raising the minimum wage and his efforts to pass paid-sick leave legislation. Ingrid has been a fighter for our students and schools in Prince George's County. My bid for Congress is about working together to get things done, and I look forward to working with both of them to carry on this important work."

Brown is running a strong, grassroots campaign to represent the people of Prince George's and Anne Arundel Counties in Congress. He has consistently led in every poll and is talking to tens of thousands of voters in the district about his work to carry on President Obama's agenda by increasing economic opportunity, expanding early childhood education and passing common-sense gun safety laws.
